PARLIAMENT.

Ottawa, April 15.

The past week, after the Easter holidays, did not witness as rapid an advance of business as was expected. The attendance was slim, and no doubt important business was held back in consequence.

A vote was taken on the third reading of the bill to incorporate the national Transit Co., empowered to build a double track railway between Toronto and Collingwood. Although a private bill it was treated very much as a party question. Campbell, executive for Kent, who was defeated in West York at last election by Wallace, was promoting the bill. This made it objectionable to Wallace and his friends. As the idea of the bill was most popular in Toronto they dared not oppose it on its merits, and so were compelled to raise side issues. The vote was taken on an amendment by Clarke, of West Toronto, that in case of purchase of the road by the government the amount of bonuses granted should be deducted from the valuation. While the general principle of the amendment was acceptable to both sides of the house it was objected that this bill should not be singled out for its application, particularly when the very purpose of the road was not the direct profit of the company so much as the indirect advantage to the general interests expected to result from the cheapening of transport over that route. The amendment was defeated on an almost straight party vote. Smith, independent, of Nanaimo, being the only member on the liberal side who voted for the amendment.

The principal interest of the week centred in the railway committee, where the application for a charter for a railway from Fernie to the United States boundary was being considered. There appeared to be a very wide divergence between ministers Blair and Tarte on this bill. The minister of public works showed his opposition from start to finish of the proceedings of the committee, while the minister of railways showed himself as plainly to be in favour of the bill. Hon. Mr. Sifton also present, but did not declare himself. The bill was still in the air until Thursday of this week, when its fate will be decided. The Fernie coal mines are situated on the west side of the summit of the Rockies on the Crow's Nest Pass railway. These mines depend for their output on the demand of the smelters in western Montana, both east and west of the main range of the Rockies. These smelters are now reached by railway connections both east and west provided by the C. P. R. The application being made to parliament is for power to build a railway to connect the Crow's Nest Pass with the main trunk line of the C. P. R. The purpose is to secure competing railway rates between the mines and the United States smelters so that the mines may be better able to compete for the trade of those smelters and the output and profits thereby be increased. The application for the Crow's Nest railway charter is not made by the Crow's Nest Coal Company, as such but is made practically by the same individuals organized as a railway company. The principal parties in the Crow's Nest coal in the railway as well as Senator Cox, of the Bank of Commerce, Robert Jaffray, of the Globes, and Elias Rogers, the great coal dealer, all of Toronto, J. J. Hill, of the Great Northern, have recently purchased thirty per cent of the Coal Company. The company will build the railway without any bonus, and inasmuch as its construction will be by introducing the competing railway rates tend to increase the output of coal at Fernie and so increase the employment of labor and consumption of farm products by the greater number of miners employed, the producing regions of Manitoba and the Territories, have a very direct interest in the construction of the proposed road.

The opposition to its construction naturally comes from the C. P. R. who naturally grow as always, object to competition. Finding, however, that the argument against railway competition was not likely to be successful they have ostentatiously withdrawn from the fight and have set up the necessity of safe-guarding the smelting interests of British Columbia as the reason for refusing a competing outlet for the Crow's Nest Coal. The argument is that as the Hill interests largely control the smelting as well as the railway interests of Montana, if Hill is given more convenient railway access to the Crow's Nest coal area in which he has, as already mentioned, secured a partial interest, he might use his position to control the output of the coal area, to the advantage of his smelters in the United States and to the detriment of the smelters in British Columbia. The argument does not show, if he acquires control of the Coal Company's portion of the coal area, as he may, if he will pay enough money, how he is to be prevented from making a difference in the price charged for coke and coal between United States and Canadian smelters, whether he has a railway of his own to the mines or not. Nor does it show why he as owner of the coal mines should not wish to sell all the coal he could to whoever would buy. If there is danger of cornering the supply of coaling coal, that danger is not avoided or decreased by refusing competing railway rates for the output. Indeed it would seem on a close scrutiny that it is anything but a desire for the welfare of the smelting industry of British Columbia that prompts the opposition to a competing railway. The success of the smelting industry depends chiefly upon the cost of fuel laid down at the smelter. And the railroad haul is a large part of the cost of the fuel. With absolute control of all railways between the mines and smelters in British Columbia, the C. P. R. can dictate the railway rates, and keep them at the point of whatever the traffic will bear. With a direct and actively competing line between the United States smelters, if it were developed that the Great Northern was hauling coke more cheaply between Fernie and Butte, Montana, than the C. P. R. was charging for hauling for like distance between say Fernie and Greenwood, B. C., there would be a case forthwith for the government to exercise its control of rates over the Crow's Nest Pass railway and to compel a reduction of coke rates in the Greenwood smelter and the mining interests of British Columbia generally against the C. P. R. In the point which arouses the latter's hostility is the C. P. R. to the Crow's Nest railway. Not a desire to protect the smelting industry of B. C. but to bleed that industry at will.

Hon. Mr. Blair explained that the desire of the government was to permit expansion of the coal trade with the United States and at the same time ensure the protection of B. C. smelting interests. The coal company was willing to agree to reasonable restrictions as to supply of coal to B. C. smelters but so far the government had not agreed to those who were in the required. The bill aims at guaranteeing the coal company the right to Thursday to permit a definite agreement being entered into between the government and the coal company that would protect all interests.

IMMIGRATION.

The last report of the department of interior contains some interesting facts regarding settlement of the Northwest. Never has the flow of immigration been so steady, strong and healthy as during the last two years. The year 1892, Manitoba boom days, was the banner year in the history of the Northwest for homestead entries, the number reaching 7,483, but of these 47 per cent were cancelled when the boom burst. In 1899, 6,689 applications were made, and only 8 per cent of them were cancelled. During the first six months of 1900 the number of applications was 4,192, of which only 1 per cent were cancelled. The figures for the first six months of last year are specially interesting, as showing the more recent trend of immigration into Canada. Of the 4,132 homestead entries made during that half year, 1,480 were by Canadians from the several provinces, and 108 were by Canadians who have returned from the United States. Ontario sends out by far the greater share of the homesteaders, namely, 918, Manitoba, 286, leaving very few for the rest of the Dominion. The three Maritime provinces only furnished 51 applicants, which indicates a great indisposition on the part of the people of that part of Canada to take up farms in the Northwest. The United States furnished 833 applicants, the United Kingdom taking the next place with 495, and Austro-Hungary coming next with 481. Germany was the next place, but it falls a long way behind the others. Of the United States, Dakota furnished by far the most homesteaders, with Minnesota, Nebraska, Michigan and Iowa following in that order. None of the Southern States is represented in the list. The department says that "there is no doubt, according to present indications, that the current of immigration will keep on increasing, and we may therefore look forward confidently in future to a fair share of the best class of farmers from the Western States, who may decide upon leaving their present holdings in order to better their social condition by settling elsewhere."

ALBERTA'S BEST IMMIGRATION AGENT.

A subscriber on the eve of leaving one of the Western States for Alberta wrote recently to the Bulletin, "The Bulletin has kept me pretty well posted as to affairs in Canada. I do not think I should have hesitated to go to Canada if I had not got interested in the country through your paper. (Thanks to the Bulletin) The Bulletin speaks regularly to hundreds of Americans from Boston to California. The Bulletin sent regularly to your distant friends will give them a true idea of your town, its private life and will reach them more regularly."

IN OTHER EYES.

The following fine appreciation of the Strathcona and Peace River, by A. G. Hales, in the London Daily News: "The white untrodden snow lay thinly on the sweet grass, like a mantle of finest lace across the face of finest beauty. Buckingham Palace, weather-stained and soiled, seemed amidst that unstained handwork of nature like some discarded veteran of the wars, girdled by girls. The clouds that all the morning draped the sky rolled suddenly assemblages of mighty soldiers; it touched the King, and added something to his kingly state; it fell around our Queen caressingly. Her black-robed figure, and the cold sun shone down and delivered everything it touched. It flashed on steel, and played amid the flanked by snow-crowned terraces, added a touch of pathos to the scene that brought back other memories. I looked around, and saw the faces of men whose hands have helped to make our empire's history. Roberts was there, keen, quick and bright, his every action full of vigorous life, no musing step, no sluffing, dawdling gait, his step was like his tongue, brisk, bold and sharp, seeming to tell of years of work still stored in that small frame should England need it. Buller was standing by, his great stature making the earl look smaller by comparison, and quite a host of lesser men were crowding round the King. I heard the roll of drums, the quick command, the rattle of rifles as they rose and fell, the Canadian bugles who had fought for us against the Boers moved up to meet the King. How proud they looked those close-knit men, dressed in their plain khaki, no ornaments, no trapping, no man-military—they looked like men well fit to hold a nation's flag, and hold it high in time of storm and strife. There was to be a review of the troops, and each soldier moved as if he knew that every hill in Africa, if they had tongues, would bear him witness that he'd borne himself in battle like a man. If Canada has more like these, then she is rich indeed. The King unrolled his colors, and, advancing, gave it to an officer so plainly dressed he might have been a simple private of the line. Then, Edward, King of England, spoke to those brave men, and in his country's name, thanked them for service rendered. Again the thrumming drums spoke out, and each soldier leaning on his rifle, gazed at the standard as it fluttered in the sunshine. Their glowing eyes were full of quiet pride, they were not untrusting boys going to try their strength but men of valor, who had measured hearts and arms against a foe as brave as England's sons had every faced; they looked at that proud flag as steadily as they had looked into the throat of a death on African soil, yet, in their very calmness, one could read the title to their strength. No need to ask if they will rally round the color of the King if they are ever needed. The day any come when flags will stretch out their hands to reach that standard, but I am no judge of men, if the flag will ever grip that flag whilst women live to give such men as these who were it. Once more the warlike music flooded the air with sound that fired the blood, then over the terrace came an old man, whose white beard rivalled the snow on which he trod. He reached the spot where Alexandra stood, and bowed his head in greeting, whilst Roberts, Buller, and a dozen more followed with each other to do him honor. It was the man who raised the regiment, the loyal Strathcona, whose name the regiment bears, and if he leaves no other monument his name will live in English hearts when many another mine has been forgotten. The King and that old man stood side by side, the sunbeams chased the shadows from the snow, the flag, rich in its wealth of coloring, flaunted bravely in the breeze, then all the colour rang and rang again to the cheering of our sons who come to us across the seas."

The following uncorroborated and highly indefinite despatch comes from London: The fact that 1,500 British soldiers have been besieged over recent months without anybody's knowing anything about it is a striking proof of the utter inadequacy of the news service in South Africa.

MY SCHOOL DAY FRIENDS
 Sometimes I go, reflectively, On journeys retrospectively, And for the moment dwell amid the scenes of long ago;
 And on such outings, as a rule, I wander to the dear old school, And visit with the boys and girls whom there, I used to know.

Purchase you were acquainted, too,
 With many old-time friends I knew, You may have met Anne Alyds and also, Ann Eliza, Or maybe, chummed with Algy Bray, Or counted with Phil Osmey, Or dived with Ed Cation, who was wont to be so wise.

And there was Rita Molloy, Ah yes, and Ann Thology, And Polly Gon and Pully Giot and Polly this and that,
 You may have glanced at Ella Cation,
 Overt a smile at Eva Lation, Or with Ella Mentary enjoyed a little chat.

Now all those friends I used to see Are half-forgotten dreams to me, Yet none within my thoughts they held A quite important place.
 But they commenced "commencement day"
 From memory to slip away, Till now I scarcely know them if I met them face to face.

—Nixon Waterman, in Youths' Convention.

A BOER IN CANADA.

An item appeared in the telegrams of last issue regarding a Boer named Sandeelin, who was seeking a location for his fellow-countrymen in Canada. The Montreal Herald publishes the following regarding Sandeelin:

A Boer, or Afrikaner, who carried a rifle for eight months against the British in South Africa, who was present during the first siege of the town of Mafeking, who was one of the men who took part in the invasion of Natal and who was helping to hold Buller back of the Tugela, while Ladysmith was being pounded, arrived in Montreal last week with thirty cents in his pocket and the intention of making Canada his home. He has been rounded, captured and released on condition that he leave the country. His name is E. P. Sandeelin, and before the war he was a farmer, cattle raiser, and transport driver in the Free State, a portion of the Transvaal which the despachists this morning announce the British "are sweeping clear of everything that will prove useful to the Boers."

He landed in Montreal at 10 o'clock last Monday morning and at once took the same day had begun to lay the foundation of a new fortune.
 He got a job as a railroad yard and was earning a comfortable wage a day and saving money to get transportation to the western prairie and to begin his new life as a settler on a prosperous cattleman.
 At the same time he is helping a friend who is in the same line of work and who is a typical specimen of a Boer. He has been a great ingenuer by descriptive writers, physically and mentally Sandeelin is a swart man. He is about five feet eleven inches in height and weighs over a hundred and seventy pounds. He is hard and strong and carries himself in the air like a man who is used to the work of the natural athlete. He is a fair man and the only thing which would make one suspect he was a Boer is a certain look in his eyes which is a sign of the resistance and self-reliance in every feature.
 The impression made by his features, physically and mentally Sandeelin is a swart man. He is

 features, physically and mentally

Mr. Sandeelin yesterday told a reporter that he was an Afrikaner, his father and mother were Cape Colony Dutch, and he was born in Cape Colony. He moved to the Transvaal in 1887, settled in the Utrecht district. "When the war broke out," he says, "I had a farm of about three hundred acres, two wagons and two span of oxen. I used to make a living chiefly out of transport riding. On my farm I had eight milch cows and a good 300 sheep. They are all gone now and I cannot tell who has taken them. However, the land is still mine, and when the war is over I shall sell it. I can easily get an acre or two of land, and I can give me a thousand pounds to start with in Canada. I understand that in the west the government gives settlers 100 acres of land. If I can get this I would be able to stop it with the proceeds of the sale of my African land. I could not start there again because after the war it would be too high, and I would not be able to try again to start me."

When I was released at Ladysmith I had a few pounds in my pocket and went to Durban and then to Cape Town. Here I was arrested and detained until I could take passage to Liverpool. In Liverpool I made across a passport describing the Algonia district in Canada. It stated the government assisted settlers to go to these farms, so I decided to go to the country and to settle there if it is suitable, and if I can get anyone to join with me. I spent in Montreal for a month or more until I got enough money to go west and see the country. I shall get something to do so I can go back with some money in my pocket, as I would not want the Transvaal property to think I could not earn a living outside of Africa. If I find the country suitable I have no doubt a number of my neighbors will sell their farms and return with me. We will all have some money from the sale of our farms, but would like to greatly if the government could assist us in our passage. I understand the government sometimes gives help of this kind to emigrants who are tired and sixty acres of land is a very small farm, but then if I can get that from the government we might be able to buy land alongside of it."

My farm of 500 acres is considerably smaller than in Africa. Some of them consist of 1,200 or 1,500 acres and the owners of them are rich men.
 I have no doubt some of these men would come if I find the country good. I have got to go back anyway to bring out my wife and children, who are now in the British camp at Pietermaritzburg.

Asked what sort of citizens the Afrikaners would make, Mr. Sandeelin said:
 "That depends altogether on what we expected of them. I should say from the treatment I should expect they would get from your government they would make desirable citizens. They would be law-abiding and thrifty. If the country is what the pamphlet says it is I feel quite certain I will bring back with me men from Cape Colony and Natal as well as the Transvaal. There may be enough of us to charter a ship and come direct. The Transvaal likes his own home, and I would like to find a district where there is plenty of room and where settlers are not too near."

SESSIONAL INDEMNITY INCREASED.
 A despatch in the Winnipeg Telegram from Ottawa says: It is settled that members and members of the House of Commons are to receive an increased indemnity of $500, making the amount per session $1,500. For this session to cover the allowance a further supplementary estimates will be brought down and to cover future years the act respecting the senate and commons, will be amended.

STRIKE OF CENSUS MEN

In the outlying portions of the Algonquin district little has been done of the taking of the census.
 Through the disallowance of expenses incurred in the taking of the prohibition plebiscite, and the fact that several election officials at the last general election have not yet been paid, the enumerators appointed by the government refuse to go ahead and spend their own money for travelling and other expenses and take the chances of not getting it back. An application has been made for a general strike of the enumerators for the expenses of the enumerators. The same has already been made in Manitoba and British Columbia, but no money has yet been granted. Several enumerators, appointed from here for points on the Lake of the Woods say they will not go out until their expenses are advanced.

ALL-BRITISH CABLE CABLE

The all-British cable will be constructed and laid over a total distance of 7,596 nautical miles. The undertaking is a very big one for the contractors and not without serious risks, as the lengths of submerged cable will be laid over greater distances and at greater depths of ocean than ever before attempted. Moreover, the cable will skirt a sea region in which car-quakes are frequent still, and very violent. The cable will connect at Vancouver, B. C., with the Canadian Pacific telegraph system, which will do its business across the continent; and the Commercial Cable Company, which although largely American, all-British cables across the Atlantic, will transmit the messages from Canada to Britain. Thus a wire grid, with all the points of connection upon British soil, will soon circle the world.

CLAIMS AGAINST CHINA.

Washington, April 13.—According to information received here, the British claim against China was regarded as reasonable in amount, as compared with other claims. In fact, the United States, Great Britain and Japan represent in these negotiations the moderate element, whose desire was to prevent the imposition of charges that would destroy the Chinese government and result in the division of the empire.
 None of the claims exceeded $100,000, and even the largest was something less than that sum. This was the Russian claim, which was fixed at $90,000. As already stated, the claim of the United States is $250,000, and if the remaining powers were to be allowed a proportionate share, the aggregate would have been beyond China's ability to pay, which has been tentatively estimated at $300,000,000.
 Nothing has yet been determined respecting the method of raising the indemnity fund. The indemnities for war expenses, exclusive of the claims of private individuals and missions are as follows: Russia, $800,000,000; France, $65,000,000; Germany, $60,000,000; United States, $25,000,000; Great Britain, $22,500,000.

LACOMBE CAPTURES PRIZES

The first public sale of pure-bred cattle in the Territories was held at Calgary on Friday last under the auspices of the Territorial Purebred Cattle Breeders' Association, liberal aid being given by both federal and Territorial governments. The first was conducted according to the regulations of the provincial auction sales where all sellers agree to accept the highest bid.
 A large number of highly bred bulls and cows were sold and good prizes obtained. Lacombe's representatives were by far the most popular, eliciting much admiration and comment. The three prizes offered by the Dominion government were won for the highest total realized for any two animals; the property of the same breeder and were all carried off by Lacombe. The first was one by H. Talbot & Son, 2nd by A. W.
 Lacombe, 3rd by H. Talbot.
 Two diplomas were given by the association for the animals bringing the highest price and the two animals bringing the highest combined price and bred by owner. Both these diplomas were awarded to E. Talbot & Son of Lacombe.

BULLS FOR N. W. T.

Arrangements have again been made by the Pure Bred Cattle Breeders' Association of Manitoba to ship purebred bulls to be shipped from Manitoba to the Territories under arrangements with the Territorial government. The association is a body of agriculturists, for conditions, etc.
 Freight charges only $5.00 per head.
 Cars will be dispatched as soon as sufficient animals are booked.
 The Association can confidently recommend parties desiring to purchase stock to place their orders with Mr.
 William Sherman, Souris, Man., who will again take charge of the shipments.

PUBLIC HOSPITAL.

The following is the report of the committee on ways and means of the public hospital:

They do not consider that a proper systematic canvass of the town can be made by the directors personally.

They recommend that a canvasser be employed upon terms to be agreed by the board who shall be under the direction of the board acting through its president.

A sub-committee to be supplied with official receipt book Receipts to be given for all subscription, however small, and to state whether subscription be annual or not.

A monthly report to be handed in before each regular meeting of the board.

To notify the secretary of all complaints which may be made to him and names of those concerned.

Your committee further recommend that an appeal be granted and issued through the mail and also published in the papers.

That some definite effort be made to obtain in every apartment or village which the hospital, serves, a duly accredited representative who shall be authorized to receive subscriptions and give receipts for same, and who shall report regularly as the board may direct.

That this matter of collecting funds be prosecuted with system and vigor and be placed in the hands of two directors to organize and carry out whatever scheme the board adopts, and that this be completed by the 1st day of May, so that appeals through the churches may be taken advantage of.

A list of annual subscribers be kept and such subscribers called on when subscriptions fall due.

—Mrs. Patterson and Harrison left Saturday for Bluffton, the Galician settlements and other eastern points to investigate the health of the communities there. It is at this point that the Galicians, though admittedly an unhealthy race, are reported as absolutely free of the present epidemic.

This is attributed by medical men to the fact of their having been vaccinated wholesale, both before leaving Austria and while in the country. Whether there is any sickness among them or not will be fully investigated by the doctors on their present trip. Dr. Patterson considers the sickness now as practically over in the town itself but advises vaccination, as many of the houses, he states, are impossible to disinfect without burning down, which is impossible. Owing to the country being one of such magnificent distances Dr. Terney has been appointed by Dr. Patterson to look after the northern portion and Dr. Sutherland the southern part, both acting under instructions of the district health officer, Dr. Harrison.

LOCAL.

—W. D. Pittman, of the "Poonah Herald," is in town.

—A special train came in last night.

—O. D. Fleming, editor of the Innisfree Free Lance, came in last night.

—Census Enumerator O'Brien informs us that the population of Wetaskiwin is 5532.

—Robert Sutherland, son of Geo. Sutherland of Nanaimo, and trooper in Strathcona's Horse, returned on Saturday from the east where he had spent a few weeks with friends, on his way home from Africa.

—Messrs. J. B. Mercer, J. H. Morris, K. A. McLeod and G. A. Gouin went out to Big Lake, Saturday, on a brief fishing and duck shooting trip. They returned this morning having had a fairly successful hunt. Ducks were rather scarce and fish decidedly so.

—The mayor, Coun. Lee and the secretary-treasurer, have been sitting on an assessment committee for the past fortnight fixing the assessment for 1901. Their work is not yet completed. The roll has to be completed by the 1st of May.

—Projects are on foot for the erection of four elevators and another machine shop and foundry. Work is being held back awaiting further word from the railway extension and the course it will take into the town.

—Madame Albani and party will arrive on to-night's train. Manager Robertson, of the hall, announces that the plan for to-morrow's night's concert will be at Mackenzie's bookstore until 7:30 when it will be removed to the box office at the hall. Doors will open at 7:30.

—A shipment of 228 head of stock was made from this station last week by C. Young, for the P. Burns & Co. of Calgary, and there was also a shipment made last Tuesday by the same firm. This was undoubtedly the best bunch of stock shipped this season. Another shipment will be made about the 25th inst.—Wetaskiwin Times.

—Messrs. Ball & Howard have been in the Cinnamon Bros. butcher business, here, and take possession of the first of the month. Mr. Ball, the senior member of the new firm, is well known, and has been connected with Cinnamon Bros. business since its inception here. John Cinnamon intends leaving about the middle of the month to go into ranching there. He already has over 200 head of cattle.

—The race committee met in the secretary's office on Friday evening to arrange a programme of races for the exhibition. The committee decided to hang out purses aggregating $2,000.

Twenty-one races will be pulled off, the prizes ranging from $50 to $200, the highest list ever offered west of Winnipeg. Sportsmen from all parts of the west are expected in force and the meeting will doubtless be the most successful ever held here.

—The steam tender of the gold dredge Otter sank in the river here on Thursday morning. Fortunately the dredge was not above to be raised without serious difficulty.

—A spot at which the steamer sank was just opposite the mouth of White Mud Creek where the big gold dredge was its winter quarters. The steamer sank on its first run on Wednesday and it is thought its foundering was due to the loosening of some of the planking by the ice.

—A cinematograph exhibition of pictures of the Queen's funeral was given in the hall Friday night, under the auspices of the fire brigade band. A variety of pictures was displayed for the first half of the exhibition, the best thing being the collision scene, and deep sea divers at work. A number of scenes of the troops and transports in South Africa were shown. In these scenes the thorough absence of anything resembling the pomp and circumstance of war would indicate that the views were largely genuine. Reproductions of actual scenes. A loaded transport wagon was shown crossing a drift, the heroic exertions of the Red Cross workers to make the animals of their best, looking very familiar to any one who has ever persuaded oxen with a tepee pole. The Queen's funeral procession scene was very long and very indistinct, owing to a fault in the taking or reproduction of the scenes. Altogether the scenes shown were good above the average, but the poor lighting and the great vibration militated much against the pleasure of the exhibition.

—Father Guillet, of the Catholic mission at Rein Deer Lake, (La Cariboo) was a passenger south on Tuesday's train, having been on a brief visit to his labors here, after thirty-five years seclusion among the Esquimaux. Rein Deer Lake is just west of Hudson's Bay, in Chesterfield Inlet. For ten years Father Guillet never saw a white man, and for twenty years never tasted of the outside world. For the last 15 years the four procurable have been only three sacks per year, previous to that time it was one sack per annum. The reverend father's present trip is the first one he has made to the outer world since going north in 1865 and his purpose in coming out now was to visit his brother whose home is at Esquimaux. From Rein Deer Lake he came in canoe to Prince Albert where he took the train for the coast. He visited Edmonton on his return from Esquimaux, and on Tuesday morning left for Prince Albert and the north to resume his interrupted labors among the natives.

—M. S. Vankoughnet leaves in the morning for this house in Toronto. Mr. Vankoughnet has been in the west nineteen years not six as mentioned in last issue.

—The need of a street sprinkler is every day becoming more apparent. Now with a water supply available in town the sprinkler would be more easily operated than when the water had to be hauled from the river.

—The ladies of Edmonton are cordially invited to be present at a Viatic Health Talk which will be given in Houston's Hall, Thursday afternoon, April 25th, at 3:30. All interested in knowing something of woman's physical life should be present. Life-size charts will be used to illustrate. Admission free.

—In answer to the telegram sent by the town council to Frank Oliver, M. P., inquiring as to the progress of the railway bill for the extension of the line across the river here, the following reply was received from Mr. Oliver, Saturday: "Company will sign as soon as permission is received to cross the bridge. Final application by company is laid in department. Second now being considered. Decision promised in a few days. Writing follow."

POPULAR LAKE.

John Ferguson relates a somewhat novel story of how he recovered his horses which he had been unable to find for sixteen days. On Sunday last he discovered the missing animals not far away, but afraid to come home. They were on an island surrounded by water in a large slough, where they had gone for pasture. John's saddle horse refused to wade through broken and swollen ice to them and John had to go in on foot through water four feet deep. Fording was exceedingly hard and finally Mr. F. tried an ice-raft. When the horses were reached they refused to come off through the rotten ice and must necessarily be perished there soon if they had not been discovered. They were finally hauled off by a horse and rope through a channel cut through the rotten ice at the edge. Mr. Tingley, who helped and Mr. Ferguson, received somewhat severe handling by the corraling and ice. The horses had lost considerably in flesh.

A considerable acreage of wheat has been sown this week. All or nearly all the seed will be sown next week. The weather has been most suitable of late for farm work.

Your correspondent made a test of some feed oats purchased and 75 per cent sprouted. I cannot understand how other tests should be so unsatisfactory. First application by company is laid in department. Second now being considered. Decision promised in a few days. Writing follow.
